Education Grant Program

For years, SHARE grants have been funding community projects and organizations with the goal of making immediate impacts; a quick harvest. Now, with an eye towards the future, SHARE is excited to offer members of all ages the opportunity to access educational grants! Because education is a seed that yields a lifetime of harvests, we believe that as our members become more educated, they are able to share what they've learned in order to build better lives and a better world. Through the financial success of our festivals, we will provide flexible grants (around $500) to students who are connected to the SHARE family in order to pursue ideas, knowledge, and skills within the following fields:

- Geo-Environmental Studies
- Environmental Education; Engineering
- Sustainability, Preservation, Conservation
- Holistic Health; Alternative Healing

Grant money may be used for seminars, community classes, tuition, books, living expenses, as well as other education-related activities, subject to approval. Documentation (receipt, statements, bills etc) of funded expenses will be required.

Recipients will be asked to "give back" to the SHARE community by making a presentation based on their studies, either at a workshop during festival or another SHARE forum.

How To Apply

Please complete the attached Applicant Information Form and submit with one of the following projects. Please be sure to explain who you are, what you are studying and why, where and when you will be studying, as well as how you would make use of a SHARE grant. .:

- 500 word essay (you may include supporting documents like brochures or website links)
- Mixed media presentation including photographs, video, etc
- Contact the grants committee with an idea of how you want to present your request.

You may submit the application electronically or via standard mail.
